

Five Sparrows, LLC Provides Web Site and Content Management System to “Hands on Haiti,” a Local Non-Profit Organization

HARTLAND, MICHIGAN, October 24, 2005— Five Sparrows, LLC today announced the launch of a new web site for charitable organization Hands on Haiti, a non-profit Christian aid group focused on the plight of the orphaned children of Haiti.

“Hands on Haiti is an amazing group that provides a wide variety of services to the children of Haiti,” said Lauren Hobson, president of Five Sparrows. “The organization helps fund and maintain an orphanage, a school, and provides lots of other types of support for these children. This new web site will enable the group to provide updates, a photo gallery, stories of progress, and even online donation capabilities.”

Five Sparrows also provided Hands on Haiti with a custom content management system and on-site training so they could manage the web site and add information from within the organization.

“A few of us have ventured to Haiti to see for ourselves the needs of the orphanage and churches,” said Patty Sauve, one of the founders of the Hands on Haiti organization. “We were able to get a glimpse of the overwhelming difficulties faced on a daily basis...conditions so extreme, most Americans wouldn't even be able to imagine them.

“This new web site will help us share important updates and enable us to provide stories of success and hope, photos of the children being cared for, and give others a way to donate online or become involved with this mission to make a difference for these children.”
